

Liquidware Labs Now Available to Government Customers via Carahsoft's GSA Schedule
Stratusphere and ProfileUnity products speed adoption of next generation desktops

Alpharetta, Ga. and Reston, Va. – July 1, 2010 – Liquidware Labs (www.LiquidwareLabs.com), the leader in Assessment, Migration, and User Experience Management for next generation desktops, and Carahsoft, the trusted Government IT solutions provider, today announced a partnership and the addition of Liquidware Labs products on Carahsoft's GSA schedule (GS-35F-0131R).

Liquidware Labs' assessment, migration, and service assurance products provide methodology and solutions for any organization moving to a next generation desktop including VMware View, Windows 7, and other VDI platforms. Liquidware Labs Stratusphere and Liquidware Labs ProfileUnity are in use by several government institutions and the company has seen demand increase greatly in recent operating quarters.

- Stratusphere Fit is the first and easiest step on the path to virtualizing enterprise desktops. Stratusphere's comprehensive VDI Fit analyzer and detailed reports can be used to easily assess your organizations' current network, user, and application usage.
- ProfileUnity migrates and delivers a flexible user workspace by making existing user profiles universally compatible with any Windows OS (XP/2000/Vista/Win 7). The solution provides availability, and can also migrate, Windows native user profiles and data to VMware View, Terminal Services, Windows 7 and other environments.
- Liquidware Labs Stratusphere UX provides you with end-to-end visibility to ensure desktops are consistently delivered with the best user experience available. The solution proactively ensures a quality user experience by constantly rating enterprise desktop performance– by application, group, or user. The solution tracks hundreds of metrics on integral infrastructure to ensure quality user experiences across all of your desktops.

"We're very pleased to gain Carahsoft as a trusted partner to make our innovative virtual desktop and next desktop solutions more easily available to government agencies and Carahsoft's partner ecosystem", said Tyler Rohrer, COO and founder of Liquidware Labs.

"Liquidware Labs is a strategic addition to our portfolio of VMware solutions allowing us to support the growing movement among government organizations to migrate to virtual desktops," said Craig P. Abod, Carahsoft president. "Liquidware's management and migration solutions help our government customers and our partners better understand their environments and accelerate the implementation of VMware's virtual desktop solutions."
